Suggested audience

Police commanders, supervisors, detectives, officer, and municipal officials

Join Attorney John Scheft for a legal, step-by-step from the moment a police officer arrives at the polls to the end of election day when the ballots get delivered. Police learn what they can and cannot do, so they respond with confidence if an issue gets raised or a disturbance occurs. Feel free to take the comprehensive course handout and distribute it to other officers in your department.

"I attended John's class on this topic before the last Presidential election. Incredibly useful. We were able to defuse a couple of situations at the polls!"
Sgt. from a Metro-Boston Department
