The outcome of a winter storm is difficult to predict, but one could bring your operations to a halt if you do not have actionable business continuity plans in place. This webinar will focus on preparing your business for winter storms.

Key topics include:

- Preparing for winter weather and ensuring continuity of operations
- Mitigating the effects of winter weather on your operations
- Lessons learned from past winters and predictions for this year

ABOUT THE PRESENTER: ROB SARNO

Rob is a business continuity expert and Senior Account Manager at Agility Recovery. With over a decade of professional experience helping organizations realize their continuity and risk goals, Rob combines his expertise in emergency preparedness and business continuity to advise clients on their resilience, risk, and recovery needs while helping them implement critical risk management solutions.

A native New Englander, Rob is a die-hard Boston sports fan. He holds a bachelor's degree from the University of Oregon and lives in Colorado with his wife, children, and seven pets, including dogs, cats, and a horse. During the fall, he can often be found on any given Sunday on his couch, yelling at his TV.
